BRIAND SAYS FRANCE CANNOT DISARM UNTIL NATION'S SAFETY SURE

French Premier Declares It Is His Country's Duty to Guard Against Treachery From Her Old Foe, Germany Before Third Open Session of Conference.

EXPLAINS POSITION OF FRANCE TODAY

To Aristide Briand Goes Task of Justifying to Eyes of World France's Maintaining Largest Standing Army in Europe, On Monday.

Continental Hall, Washington, Nov. 21.—Rising to the full height of his fiery Latin eloquence, Premier Briand of France delivered an impassioned speech to the world today in justification for France's maintenance of a great standing army.

He passionately and eloquently pleaded with the powers that France dare not disarm, asserting that on her doorstep sits the old Prussian militarism that attacked her in 1914, ready to strike again at a moment's notice.

In a veritable torrent of words, accompanied by gestures, pleading and supplicating, he asked the nations sitting about the great horse shoe to put themselves in France's stead—surrounded by a menacing ring of foes the greatest of whom are Germany and Russia.

Would the world, he asked almost tearfully, demand that France disarm before a possible flood or anarchy and militarism pouring out of Russia and Germany.

France already, Briand said, has cut down her army to almost the lowest possible point consistent with national safety.

The French army, he said, has been cut down one third, already and would be still further reduced.

"Tomorrow," he said, "we will have cut down to one half."

The premier pointed out that laws already were pending in the French chamber of deputies decreasing period of compulsory military service from three years to one and one half years.

These steps, Briand said, have already been taken by France, as an evidence of her willingness to do her utmost to realize the ideal of reduced armament.

No promises for the future other than these were made by the French premier and he merely pointed to them as indicating France's desire to escape the accusation of being imperialistic in her military policy.

Continental Hall, Washington, Nov. 21.—The third open session of the armament conference convened at 11:02 o'clock today in an atmosphere of pleasurable anticipation, not unlike that which overhangs the premiere of a well advertised show.

The spectators were early on the scene, keenly expectant of hearing France's greatest orator, Premier Briand, plead her cause before the world in this high court of decreased armament.

Women predominated in the crowded galleries, supplanting the senators, cabinet officers and other dignitaries who were so prominent at the previous sessions. The frock coats and high hats gave way to brilliant gowns and the latest in Parisian headgear.

There was not the air of tension over today's meeting that had characterized the others. No sudden dramatic announcements or startling coups such as attended the opening session were in prospect.

For the first time today both movies and still pictures were taken of the conference at work. When Secretary Hughes gavel fell at 11:02 powerful searchlights were turned on the green table and the operators turned busily. The center of the room was bathed in a dazzling white light that hurt the eyes.

When the lights were switched off Secretary Hughes again wielded his gavel.

"Whatever the result of the conference may be," he said, "it is obvious that there can be no imitation of photography."

Then followed a routine announcement that the record so far had been examined and found satisfactory.

Secretary Hughes said that "gratifying progress" is being made in the adjustment of conflicting views on the naval program and in the far east discussion.

Land armament is now under consideration, said the secretary and there was a general craning of necks in Briand's direction.

Great applause greeted the premier as he arose. He seemed a bit nervous.

"You may realize," he began, "that I, a delegate of France, feel great emotion at addressing this solemn conference. I thank you for the greeting and I thank the conference for permitting the opportunity for France to appear in her true colors before the whole world.

"Nothing is more agreeable to France, he said than to tell the conference that France stands ready to make the most sacrifices and contribute most to the era of peace."

"Unfortunately," he continued, "we cannot, we have not the right to do so. I will explain the position of France. In order to make peace one must be sure of one's neighbors."

"I speak of land armies. It is not sufficient to cut down the materials of war. There is another phase most important. There must be with disarmament an atmosphere of peace."

"There must be a moral disarmament. And in Europe now there are all the elements of instability."

"France must face them and measure them in terms of her own safety."

"I come from a country where many men know this, having learned it while their blood was flowing. They saw in that blood the blood of France flooding away."

FOCH WILL TOUR THE UNITED STATES

New York, Nov. 21.—New York made Marshal Foch au revoir last night, sending him off on a swing about the continent that will not end until Dec. 13 when he returns to this city, to sail the next day for France.

The itinerary, announced last night by the American Legion, his hosts on the American visit indicated that the generalissimo will travel more than 12,000 miles and visit 23 states and Canada in the 23 days allotted to the tour.

The trip will take him to the Pacific coast by way of the Northwest and back again to Washington by a southerly route, thence into Canada and back to New York through New England. The marshal left last night for Washington, whence the swing will be started in real earnest Tuesday night. He ended his visit to New York at a public reception last night in the Hippodrome. The big theatre was packed.

ARBUCKLE'S STATE MAY BE DECIDED EARLY IN TRIAL

Defense Prepared to Spring Surprise When Witness Takes Stand.

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—The fate of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle may be determined today and tomorrow, despite the fact that it will require at least three more weeks to complete his trial for manslaughter.

The defense is prepared to spring a surprise when Zey Prevon takes the stand. She and Alice Blake are scheduled to be heard today and tomorrow. During selection of the jury, Gavin McNab, chief counsel for defense, charged that one of the girls had been unduly influenced by threats in telling her original story. In dramatic manner, District Attorney Brady offered to resign if McNab should prove his statements. It is understood that during the cross examination of these witnesses, McNab will endeavor to make good his charges.

Admittedly the state's case rests on the story of Zey Prevon and Alice Blake. Bambina Maude Belmont, who swore to the murder complaint is offered to have been completely eliminated from the case. A warrant charging her with bigamy is in the hands of the local police and probably will be served today. It remains for the two show girls guests of the party to tell the state's version of what happened at the party. And passing to the hands of defense counsel on cross examination a determined effort will be made to tear down their stories and to impeach the witnesses.

Dr. Francis Wakefield, at whose sanitarium Virginia Rappe died, was scheduled as the first witness today. Following his testimony it was probable that the jury will be taken to the St. Francis Hotel to view the suite in which "Fatty's" gay party was held. This had been scheduled for Saturday and prevented by the half holiday.

ALLIES CONVINCED GERMANY CAN MEET HER REPARATIONS

Solution of Problem Said to Hinge around Stinnes' Visit To London.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The majority of the members of the Allied Reparations Commission, who came here to study financial conditions to determine Germany's ability to meet the January and February indemnity installments had left here today convinced the payments most unjust.

"To reproach France for her position is the most cruel thing that could be done and to permit her to be victimized by her terrors is the saddest thing in the world. To criticize her by accusing her of imperialistic deserts, most unjust.

"If any nation has kept faith and honor among nations, France has. France has watched Germany turn traitor to her obligations, neglect her reparations.

"There is no hate in France for any one. She would wish to be friends with Germany side by side.

"But France has not the right to weaken herself and so encourage others to certain war.

"There is a Germany composed of noble disinterested worker who want to be fair and establish Germany among decent nations. This Germany we want to help. But there are others who learned nothing from the war—they keep all the ambitions of the Hohenzollerns. This Germany we live most unjust.

GOOD ATTENDANCE MARKS OPENING OF SPECIAL SERVICE

A good attendance marked the opening sessions of the evangelistic meetings being conducted by the Rev. Haworth at the Friends Church, Sunday morning and evening.

Taking for his text, Numbers 2:17, "Every man in his place, by their standards," the Rev. Haworth laid stress upon the individual responsibility of every church member, whether in the active work of an evangelistic campaign or in the more ordinary duties of daily life.

Sunday evening, he spoke from Revelations, 2:4, "Nevertheless, I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love." One of the saddest things, according to the Rev. Haworth in connection with the work of a pastor, is to discover that some of his members, while still interested in a way, nevertheless have become so absorbed in other things that the success of the church is no longer a source of joy and delight.

The solos rendered by Mr. Cosand and his help as a leader in the song service, were well received and appreciated by the audience. The meetings will continue for the next two weeks at 7:15 each evening and at 2 p. m., with the exception of Monday and Saturday.

The Italian general greeted them cordially, although unable to speak English.

Washington, C. H., Nov. 21.—George Sargent, professional of the Scioto Country Club, and the man who designed the golf course, which is now being constructed at the Washington Country Club, visited the links Wednesday afternoon to inspect the work as it is being carried out under the supervision of Wright McCallip, recently engaged professional.

The Scioto Club wizard expressed himself as well pleased with the progress being made. He had with him models of several greens, worked out in clay, and which he left so that plans would be carried out exactly as he desired.

Plans of the architect call for a different form of construction for every green. Terraces enter into the construction of many of them. When it is completed, the Washington Country Club will have one of the finest, if not the best nine hole course in the state, club officials believe.

NAME DEMANDED OF THUGS' VICTIM

Columbus, Nov. 21.—After robbing W. W. Smith, 1205 Dennison Ave., owner of a cleaning establishment at 9 East Fifth Avenue, two bandits early yesterday morning wrote down his name and address and threatened to take his life if he reported the stickup to police. Unmoved by the threat, he told officers of it.

Jabbing him several times with their guns, the bandits compelled him to gaze toward the sky and took his wallet and $17. During the holdup the robbers compelled Smith to open his fountain pen, adjust the point and give them his name and address.

Although three substation crews of police talked with Lynn Brazell, bandit victim, after he was held up near Goodale and Henry streets, later, they failed to get his address. At any rate, Brazell lost no valuables or money, but nearly paid his life. He was unmasked when one of the two unmasked young thugs held him up, and the pair began shooting. Bullets pierced Brazell's clothes but only grazed his skin.

POST-SEASON GAME WITH FOSTORIA IS REFUSED BY XENIA

Athletic authorities at Central High school had a momentous question to decide, Monday morning.

The problem grew out of the lucrative offer from authorities at Fostoria high school for a game to be played at Fostoria, Thanksgiving Day.

Although local authorities turned down the offer, the fact that it carried with it a $750 guarantee, with the local athletic association needing money, made the rejection hard.

If the blue and white team was in good condition, the contest would have undoubtedly been booked. The fact that the team is crippled by injuries to Captain McCallister and Lonnes, which keep these two backfield men out of any possible future play, leaving Coach Jerry Katherman with only one set of backfield players, is one good reason why the game was not booked.

Further, Acting Captain Boxwell is suffering from an injured shoulder received in the Wilmington game and is not in the best of condition, while A. Currie, with a tender knee, is liable to injury at any time. Although Xenia has nothing to fear in the way of menmen, even against the 170-pound Fostoria line, if either of the backfield men should have to be taken from the contest there would be no regular to take his place, and for this reason it was thought well to close the season without a post-season mix-up.

The final game last Saturday with Springfield, giving Katherman's crew a 34-0 victory over their old rivals, tops off the best record ever attained on the gridiron by a blue and white eleven. Although well aware of the strength of the local combination, the visitors had even hoped of victory. Next to Greenfield which was beaten 38-0, Springfield was given the worst drubbing of any team met by the local team this year.

In spite of the one-sided score, the superb playing of Acting Captain Boxwell and his mates in all departments of the game, was sufficient to keep the large crowd of spectators on their toes. Taking advantage of the opportunities as well as a superiority at the straight old game enabled Xenia to win.

An example of this watchfulness was depicted in the first quarter when Reutlinger made the first touchdown. Springfield had the ball on her own 30-yard line, after a seven-yard pass Bauer to Captain Cornwell, and a three-yard sneak by Collins had negotiated one first down. Night lost five yards on the next play, and in the next attempt Yeakley, Xenia's omnipresent center, swung over the top of his opponent. With terrific force he hit Collins, as he was about to pass the pellet to Dickson for a line punge. The Springfield quarter dropped the oval like a hot poker and it had barely hit the ground until Reutlinger snatched it up and dashed for a touchdown.

The second touchdown was of the "earned" variety coming after Boxwell had recovered Bauer's fumble on Springfield's 26-yard line in the second quarter. Boxwell lost three on the first attempt, but then went in for four, and then seven for first down. Fuller slipped off tackle for five and Randall in two attempts contributed another first down and lagged the oval to Springfield's three yard line. Boxwell attempted a cross buck on the second attempt and was not even tackled as he dashed over the goal line.

Art Currie paved the way for the third counter in the same period when he intercepted a pass and ran it back 30-yards to Springfield's 33 yard line. Boxwell, Fuller and Randall made a first down and a 22 yard pass, Randall to Boxwell placed the ball on Springfield's 15. Line plunges placed the leather in position for Fuller to score. Randall brought about the next touch down in the third period when he intercepted a pass on Springfield's 37. Boxwell made nine and Fuller first down. Then Boxwell picked up 12 in a zig-zag run that was a feature of the game, and after Springfield had been penalized for "piling up", Art Currie scored. The last counter was of the sensational variety. Randall intercepted a pass and dashing 45 yards for the counter in one of the prettiest plays seen here this season. Purdon, who kicked the goals instead of Boxwell made four of his five attempts good.

It is interesting that during the pasting Xenia made ten first downs to Springfield's 3. Xenia attempted only seven passes but made three of them good for a total of 57 yards, the last a 30-yard pass to Purdon, while Springfield, unable to gain through Xenia's line, attempted 21 passes, working seven of them for a total of 63 yards. Dave Reese, Denison, referee and Calvert, Earlham, umpire, handled the game nicely, while Faifes, Ohio State, was headlinesman, Beacham Heide and Spahr, timers and the time 10 minutes straight.

Xenia's substitutions included Cowan for Reutlinger, Douthett for Smith, Reutlinger for Cowan, and Smith for Douthett, while Springfield substituted Downs for Dickson, Shafer for Allen, Allen for Bauer, Hennessy for Collins, Collins for Night and Hickman for Collins.

NEWBERRY CASE CENTER OF FIGHT

Washington, Nov. 21—Republican and Democrats, engaged in another hot verbal battle in the senate today over the Ford-Newberry election contest. Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, continued to urge the passage of his resolution to have the senate declare Newberry's seat vacant.

Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, chairman of the senate committee which investigated Ford's charges that the Newberry senatorial campaign as financed with a high "slush fund" declared that not one witness had been produced who has testified that a dollar of that campaign money either belonged to Newberry, or was solicited, given, or used with his knowledge and consent.

"We have here a combination of suspicion and inference," Spencer said, "and without the testimony of a single sworn witness to substantiate it."

"I am thinking of my own campaign. Perhaps the senator from Montana may think of his. I have no doubt in the world that if the state of Missouri were raked over as the state of Michigan has been there would be made a record which, though I knew nothing of it, might be difficult of explanation and on the whole embarrassing.

FATE OF BEER UP TO HARDING

Washington, Nov. 21—The fate of beer as a medicine today was an issue facing the president for decision. The Willis-Campbell bill, which passed the senate Friday, will be submitted to an analysis by the department of justice probably before the president decides whether or not he will sign the measure.

Attorney General Daugherty refused to discuss the merits of the bill, because of the probability that he may be asked by the president to render an opinion on its constitutionality. Brewers and distillers have served notice that they will attack the constitutionality of the bill.

STOCK TAXABLE COURT DECLARES

Washington, Nov. 21—The supreme court of the United States held today that the common stock of the old DuPont Powder company of New Jersey, given in readjustment of the old company in a new DuPont company organized under the laws of Delaware, is taxable under the individual income tax law. The court of claims held that this stock was not taxable and its decision was reversed. The decision of the court and its opinion was rendered by Associate Justice Pitney. Dissenting opinion was read by Associate Justice McReynolds.

INTERESTING POINTS ABOUT THE SELECTION OF OUR NATION CAPITOL.

In selecting the present site of the Nation's Capitol, George Washington doubtless had several thoughts in mind, not the least important one being the fact that it was within easy reach of his Mount Vernon home, some 18 miles down the river. It must be remembered that in Washington's day the only mode of travel was by horseback, carriage, rowboat or just plain walking.

The District of Columbia was established under the eighth section and first article of the Constitution of the United States.

In July, 1790, Washington, who was then serving his first term as President, attached his signature to a bill passed by the Senate, definitely locating the Capitol on the Potomac.

During the time required in laying out the city and erecting the Capitol and the President's house, this same bill stipulated that the seat of government should remain at New York, where it was then located, until December, 1790, after which date it was to be moved to Philadelphia, there to remain until the completion of the new buildings at Washington, which was fixed by law, as above stated, for December, 1800.

David Stuart, of Virginia, and Daniel Carroll and Thomas Johnson, of Maryland, were selected by Washington as the three commissioners to look after the details of this board and comprehensive program.

Early in 1791, the 19 men who happened to own practically all of the land within the proposed District of Columbia signed an agreement, "To convey in trust to the President of the United States, or commissioners, or to any such person or persons as he shall appoint, by good and sufficient deeds in fee simple, the whole of our respective lands which he may think proper to include within the lines of the federal city."

One land owner named David Burns held out, declining to dispose of his property for any such purpose. This had the same effect as pouring sand in a gasoline tank. It so happened that Burns' property extended over the area wanted for the location of the President's house. The tobacco fields of this stubborn old Scotchman extended over that section of Washington now occupied by the White House, the State, War and Navy Building, the Treasury, the Lincoln Memorial, the Washington Monument, Smithsonian Institution, the Mall, Pan American Union Building, Daughters of the American Revolution Building, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Department of Agriculture, and many other notable buildings. Lafayette Square, which contains the equestrian statue of General Andrew Jackson, and considered one of the most beautiful parks in Washington, was, at that time, known as "Davy Burns' apple orchard." Time and again, according to handed down tradition, Washington had his slaves row him up the river from Mount Vernon to the Burns cottage, which was near the shore. Here he would meet his three commissioners and all four of them would try their persuasive powers on Burns. Tradition sometimes whisperingly hints that these meetings were not entirely barren of well-aimed cuss words. Finally, so the story goes, Washington lost his serenity of manner and told the Scotchman exactly where he thought it would be appropriate for him to go without any further delay. Instead of going, however, Burns sassed the immortal Washington thuswise: "Aye, mon, hed you no married the handsome widder Custis wi' a' her nagurs, ye'd a been a land surveyor the noo, and a mighty poor ane at that!"

Some weeks later the Scotchman yielded to pressure and reluctantly agreed to turn his property over to the commissioners, stipulating only that the streets of the new city should be laid out so as not to interfere with his log cottage. In a spurt of unusual generosity he presented his apple orchard across the street from the White House to the commissioners as a free will offering

WE MUST NOT REPEAT THE BLUNDERS AT PARIS.

By COLONEL EDWARD M. HOUSE.

It must be gratifying to President Harding and Secretary Hughes to find such wide and generous response to the proposal which our Government has made concerning the reduction of naval armaments.

There is no record of a better example of heads of states yielding to public opinion, and yielding in such a way as to leave no doubt of a genuine desire to meet the wishes and expectations of the people. There was nothing halting or half-hearted about the plan put forward; and it is an encouraging sign to find officials ungrudgingly seeking to respond to this world-wide movement toward economic repair and ultimate peace.

If the Administrations program is a striking example of a willingness to try to meet the public demands, it is a no less striking example of the advantages of open diplomacy. If the old order had been followed, the American program would have been made in secret session, and perhaps would not have been known until after the Conference had ended; and even then would have been told in whispers and unauthoritatively. Counter-proposals and weeks of debate would have followed; and the atmosphere would have been charged with rumor and suspicion. There would have been lacking the driving force of public opinion, and the result likely would have been general disappointment.

BEAUTY CHATS

REDUCING THE ABDOMEN

The stout woman always has the problem of reducing a large stomach and abdomen, but then she can always feel that a general reduction course will reduce the abdomen as well as other parts of the body. The woman who has the real difficulty is the woman who is thin but who has a large abdomen as the result of standing badly or child-bearing. In the case of the fat woman it is apt to be merely surplus flesh, in the case of the standard exercise will help immensely.

Stand erect with the hands on the hips with some loose dress on and without corsets. Bend the body forward as much as possible, keeping the spine straight. Without straightening up bend sideways, backwards and to the other side. That is you are pivoting the entire upper part of the body.

The hips should be moved as little as possible. Keep up this revolving motion until you have done it 20 times.

You can feel the pull upon the muscles. If you are much in need of this exercise the abdomen may feel sore for some hours afterward, but next day in spite of the soreness repeat the exercise, and repeat it again every day until those muscles are strengthened and some of the surplus flesh away.

Other exercises may be taken in connection with this.

Vigorous massage with the palms of the hands is recommended by reduction specialists.

Corsets that lace in the hips but leave the waist comparatively free will make the abdomen flatter and better shaped than corsets which tie in the waist.

BAT MASTERSON.

Bat Masterson has laid him down to sleep a million years; in many a sunbaked western town the old boys shed some tears, for he had won a great renown among the pioneers. A thousand tales are told of Bat, who, in a sterner day, was wont to lay the bad men flat, when they had come to slay; he was so fluent with his gun that he had the right of way. A mild and quiet gent he seemed, and inoffensive hick, and on the righteous guys he beamed and had no bone to pick; but when the bad man whooped and screamed Bat plied his shooting-stick. His fame was spread from coast to coast, so well he used his gun, and where he walked the wicked host was promptly on the run, and he was never known to boast or shoot a man for fun. It was a grim and grisly time, when voters shot on sight, and many specialists in crime made red the garish night, and every hour some chap would climb up to the realms of light. The bad men went abroad to slay, inspired by ranchord wines; they came, to yell and whoop and slay, from ranches, trails and mines; but when men said, "Bat comes this way," they all took in their signs. So all the toughs and gamblers sharks by Masterson were tamed; with dead men corded in the parks, the Wild West grew ashamed; Bat punctuated his remark with bullets wisely aimed. The old wild times have had their fling, red times of long ago, and now the college glee clubs sing where herds milled to and fro; a floral horseshoe now I bring for Bat, whose lying low.

Health Talks

By John B. Huber, A.M.M.D.

ANEMIA

In anemia there is either undue thinning or impoverishment of the blood fluid, or decrease in the number of the red blood cells, or inability of the red blood cells to hold or "fix" the hemoglobin, the coloring matter of the blood.

It is the office of the hemoglobin to absorb from the air in the lungs the oxygen, the life giving, the life sustaining gas for its use in our bodies.

In other cases along with the decrease in the number of the red blood cells, the white blood cells are greatly increased; this latter is leukemia, a very grave disease.

Primary or simple anemia is also called chlorosis or green sickness; this is not of itself serious and it is easily recovered from. The ailment affects mostly young women. Faulty hygiene, lack of the right kind of food, over-work, poor digestion, constipation, tight tacking, mental stress, anxiety and the like are the causes.

Green sickness is not at all unfrequent among young women who have left their homes in foreign countries and have immigrated to far shores. Home-sickness here seems to bring on the ailment. In some cases there is defective development of the organs of circulation, the heart and the blood vessels.

The skin of such a sufferer tinged a yellowish green. There is heart palpitation at the least exertion; and shortness of breath at the slightest exertion. Heart murmurs may be heard by the doctor; but those are not necessarily organic and they generally disappear with the patient's recovery.

There is a peculiar venous hue which can, in a quiet room, be heard some feet away from the sufferer, whose jugular veins, in the neck may be quite prominent. In some cases there may be goitre. Such sufferers are very prone to hysterical or nervous attacks.

There should be no delay about the cure, less more serious ailments than the chlorosis, such as tuberclosis, may develop. Recovery depends upon the removal of the mentioned causes. Good food, rest in the open air and administration of iron are the right measures. Blaude's iron may with benefit be taken after meals three times a day for several weeks. Oxygen inhalations, as prescribed by the family doctor, help in many cases.

GERMANY SHAKING BABY'S BANK TO GET RID OF MARKS

Berlin.—Germany is shaking the baby's bank and emptying the old stocking. Marks and groschen are being spent in a mad orgy of buying. Get rid of your marks; put them into some sort of tangible property that is the advice one receives from every side.

The little people are buying clothes, shoes, supplies of food, furniture, rugs, anything to turn doubtful marks into real permanent values. The department stores are selling out faster than they can get deliveries.

"The mark means with us what we can get for it," replies the man on the street. "It is rapidly depreciating. We know what that means we have been through it before. In a few months we can get only one-half for it what we are getting now because prices haven't yet caught up with the drop. The man who is holding marks stands to take a big loss. We will turn our marks into real value which won't depreciate."

The man who has heavy holdings of marks needs no more clothes; he buys as many Oriental rugs, diamonds and paintings as he can usefully store in his apartment. Then he goes to the bourse and buys stocks. The mark is sure to depreciate he argues; the stock may be good. The result has been a boom on the exchange which has skyrocket securities high beyond their intrinsic values.

Germany is booming. Everybody is having a big turnover in his business. A large part of the business however, is due to the underlying fear that marks are losing their purchasing power—so buy now. German business in many quarters may be likened to a game between boys where they pass something hot which no one wants to hold from one to another. It's passing the buck, and the buck is labeled "Marks."

The department store managers are perplexed about their big sales. We are making a profit according to the books," said the chief of one of the oldest Berlin firms; "but no business man today knows what he is actually earning or what he is worth. For he doesn't know where the mark actually stands."

To the superficial eye Germany is the most prosperous country in Europe. "This is all artificial," declared Gordon Selfridge, the London merchant, after a few days in Berlin. Mr. Selfridge repeated the same comments which have been made by Lord Beaverbrook, and other investigators. "A crash is bound to come."

In the meantime the scramble to convert one's savings into non-taxable property continues. Fears of the new tax program, which no one understands but which threatens to take all but the barest necessities to meet the reparations, is also to no small extent a factor in the game of flinging the mark.

PEPTO-MANGAN KEEPS BLOOD PURE

Ft. Wayne Man Had Lost Fifty Pounds In Weight Before He Started On Tanlac.

When the young body is growing, children frequently experience weakness. Girls and boys sometimes play too hard and over-tax their systems. They become pale, weak, and sickly. They lose their appetites, become languid, and are not able to make progress in school work. "Growing too fast" is often true. It is most important to keep the blood of growing girls and boys in a healthy state.

Pepto-Mangan keeps the blood pure. The red cells in the blood are increased. They carry life-giving oxygen to all parts of the body, and wholesome youthfulness blooms again in clear complexions, bright eyes and buoyant spirits. Sold both in liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. adv

WILLIAM R. HITE CALLED BY DEATH

William Raper Hite, 68, life-long resident of New Jasper, died suddenly at his home in that village, Saturday evening, about nine o'clock, following a hemorrhage. Mr. Hite had appeared in good health until a short time before his death, when he suffered an attack of coughing rupturing a blood vessel which caused the hemorrhage.

He was born in New Jasper, August 21, 1853, and had spent all his life in that place. His marriage to Miss Rose Spahr, of New Jasper, took place in 1876. Mr. Hite was for some time connected with the county road building in that district, and later with the township in this work.

He is survived by his widow, and four children, A. D. Hite, of Cleveland, Mrs. Loren Rogers, of Jamestown, Mrs. Oscar Hargrave, and C. G. Hite of New Jasper.

Poor Business

John Wanamaker, who, a little over a year ago, started an avalanche of price cutting, with his 20% reduction sales, was interviewed in the newspapers recently, and expressed his opinion that good business was in hand for those who were willing to go after it. Among other things, he said:

"We are not cutting down our advertising--we are enlarging it."

Wanamaker is a pioneer in the advertising field.

He knows what its power is, and spends fortunes every year in newspaper space, to tell his story to the public.

The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican cover the trading territory of Greene County merchants completely and entirely.

LOCAL SPORTSMAN RETURNS FROM MAINE WITH BIG GAME

Styles
BY LENORE

L. F. Clevenger, president of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, returned from the Maine woods, Sunday night, with a big buck deer that insures that there will be plenty of venison for the annual banquet of the Association to be held soon.

Mr. Clevenger promised last year that he would furnish enough venison for the banquet, and he made good his promise, when he returned with one deer, and sent another home through friends who accompanied him on the party. Although the date for the venison banquet has not been set, this question will be settled at a meeting of officers of the Association to be held Monday evening.

Mr. Clevenger was accompanied on his big game trip by W. B. Stevenson, of near Cedarville, and Bert Taylor and J. C. Matthews, of Dayton. They were in camp near Staceyville, Maine, where a guide provided for their wants while they devoted their time to hunting. Mr. Clevenger had planned to remain longer but the heavy snow which continued with unabated fury, after 37 inches of snow were on the ground, brought the trip to a halt. It was necessary to hurry out of the woods, and out of 56 hunters in that section the local party was the only one to escape with its game and equipment, the others having to abandon their property in the heavy snow.

ILLINOIS TOUCHDOWN AGAINST OHIO STATE UNEARNED IS CLAIMED

Columbus, Nov. 21.—Ohio state university officials, students and fans here today are intensely interested in the claim that the touchdown scored on Ohio field Saturday by Illinois was not earned because the forward pass, Peden to Walquist, was grounded.

Motion pictures of the game, it is contended, prove that the pigskin hit the ground before Walquist grabbed it and carried it over the goal line.

"That is the way it looked to me as I was sitting on the bench," said Dr. Wilce, coach for Ohio state's eleven, when informed of what the movies show. "The officials, however, whom we engaged to represent us, saw the play differently and, of course, their ruling goes, although it is not a little satisfaction to us to know that the touchdown was not legal and that the whole aspect of the game was changed by the play.

"I shall certainly see the pictures and will communicate to the officials what the pictures show," declared Coach Wilce.

"My back was to the play and I cannot tell whether the ball hit the ground or not, but it did strike me on the head," said "Truck" Myers, captain of the Ohio state eleven. "You remember that I was running toward the north goal and I really did not see the ball until Walquist was grabbing it."

The ball should have been called back and placed in play again on the spot where the alleged incomplete pass started, if the ball struck the ground. Had this been done, the game would have ended, probably without either side scoring, it is claimed. As it was Illinois by defeating State, Saturday 7-0, put the Buckeyes out of the championship race, thereby giving Iowa the honors in the conference for this season.

TRIANGLES DEFEAT AKRON ELEVEN

The Dayton Triangles, defeated the world's champion and undefeated Akron eleven in a professional league football game at Dayton Sunday afternoon, 3-0.

The three points were annexed by Hathaway, the Triangle tackle and goal kicker, in the third quarter, after "Tubby" Sauer, his running mate, had intercepted King's attempted forward pass, and was downed on Akron's 11 yard line.

Called on for the points Hathaway kicked a field goal and what was said to be the best pro game ever played in Dayton, ended with that score.

The Canton Bull Dogs, of which F. J. Slackford, former Xenian, is a member, had its hands full with the Buffalo All-Americans at Buffalo, the game ending a 7-7 tie. Slackford did not get into the game and Canton played without Henry the big tackle, Edwards and several other regulars. The Buffalo team used several players borrowed from the Detroit Tigers.

The Decatur Staleys, with "Chick"

Harley and "Pete" Stinchcomb sprung the big surprise of the league, when they defeated Jim Thorpe's Cleveland Tigers 22-7. The Staleys now have seven victories and are still undefeated.

LINEMAN PAINFULLY HURT ON SATURDAY

Thomas Corrigan, Lineman for the Springfield-Xenia telephone company, received a severe shock and bruises, when he fell from a tree, while repairing the wires in front of the Roy Hayward home on West Second Street, Saturday afternoon.

The exact cause of Mr. Corrigan's fall is not certain but it is thought that he bore his weight upon a rotten limb of the tree, while working upon the wires. He was rendered unconscious for several hours by the fall. After being taken to the office of Drs. Flinley for treatment, he was removed to his home on Cincinnati avenue, where he was resting comfortably Monday.

TWO SENTENCED

Paris, Nov. 21.—Two men posing as Chaldean priests, Sleeva Brekha, and John Pacha, have been condemned to eight months' imprisonment on the charge of swindling the Rev. Frederick W. Beckman, rector of the American Church in Paris.

The men were arrested last July while collecting funds supposedly for Chaldeans persecuted by the Turks.

NO TRESPASSING SIGNS ON HAND

The Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association has obtained 200 more "no trespassing" signs for members and others who wish them.

The signs are being given to members, or to those who wish to join by merely paying their dollar dues to the organization. The signs are printed on water proof canvas and have proven popular so far. They can be obtained from R. H. Kingsbury, secretary of the Fish and Game Association.

AMERICAN LEGION AND DAYTON TEAM PLAY SCORELESS TIE

Forty-eight minutes of strenuous slashing football with neither team holding the advantage for long, resulted in a scoreless tie in the long looked for meeting of the American Legion eleven and the Dayton Eagles, formerly the Beavers, at Gatch field, Sunday afternoon.

A large crowd that flocked the sides was held in tense interest throughout the afternoon's pastime while first one team and then the other showed brilliant offensive strokes that threatened to break down the opposing defensive play, and just as often, an air-tight defense loomed up that smothered the attack before it began to be dangerous.

Coach Baldwin's athletes showed their best form during the first half when Buck, who is suffering from an injured shoulder, received in the Cincinnati game last week, was able to play for a few minutes and contribute to the offensive punch of the locals. In this half the Legion eleven made five of the eight first downs they secured during the game, and completed the only three successful passes they were able to negotiate.

The absence of Buck, the fact that several players were suffering from injuries, and the general weakening due to the strenuous game they were playing, slowed up the attack of the soldier team in the second half, in which period they made but three first downs, and attempted but two passes, neither being successful. Watching the breaks of the game closely however they took advantage of every opportunity and appeared to be playing as good a game as during the first half. With Buck in the lineup, fans believe a score would have resulted as the big full back ploughed once for 23 yards and again for 21 yards while in the conflict, for what the Eagles said were the longest gains made against their team this season.

The figures show that Xenia made eight first downs, to 13 obtained by the visitors. The locals used 13 forward passes, 11 of them in the first half, three being successful for a total of 26 yards. The Eagles attempted only eight passes and completed but one of them, in the closing minutes of play for 30 yards.

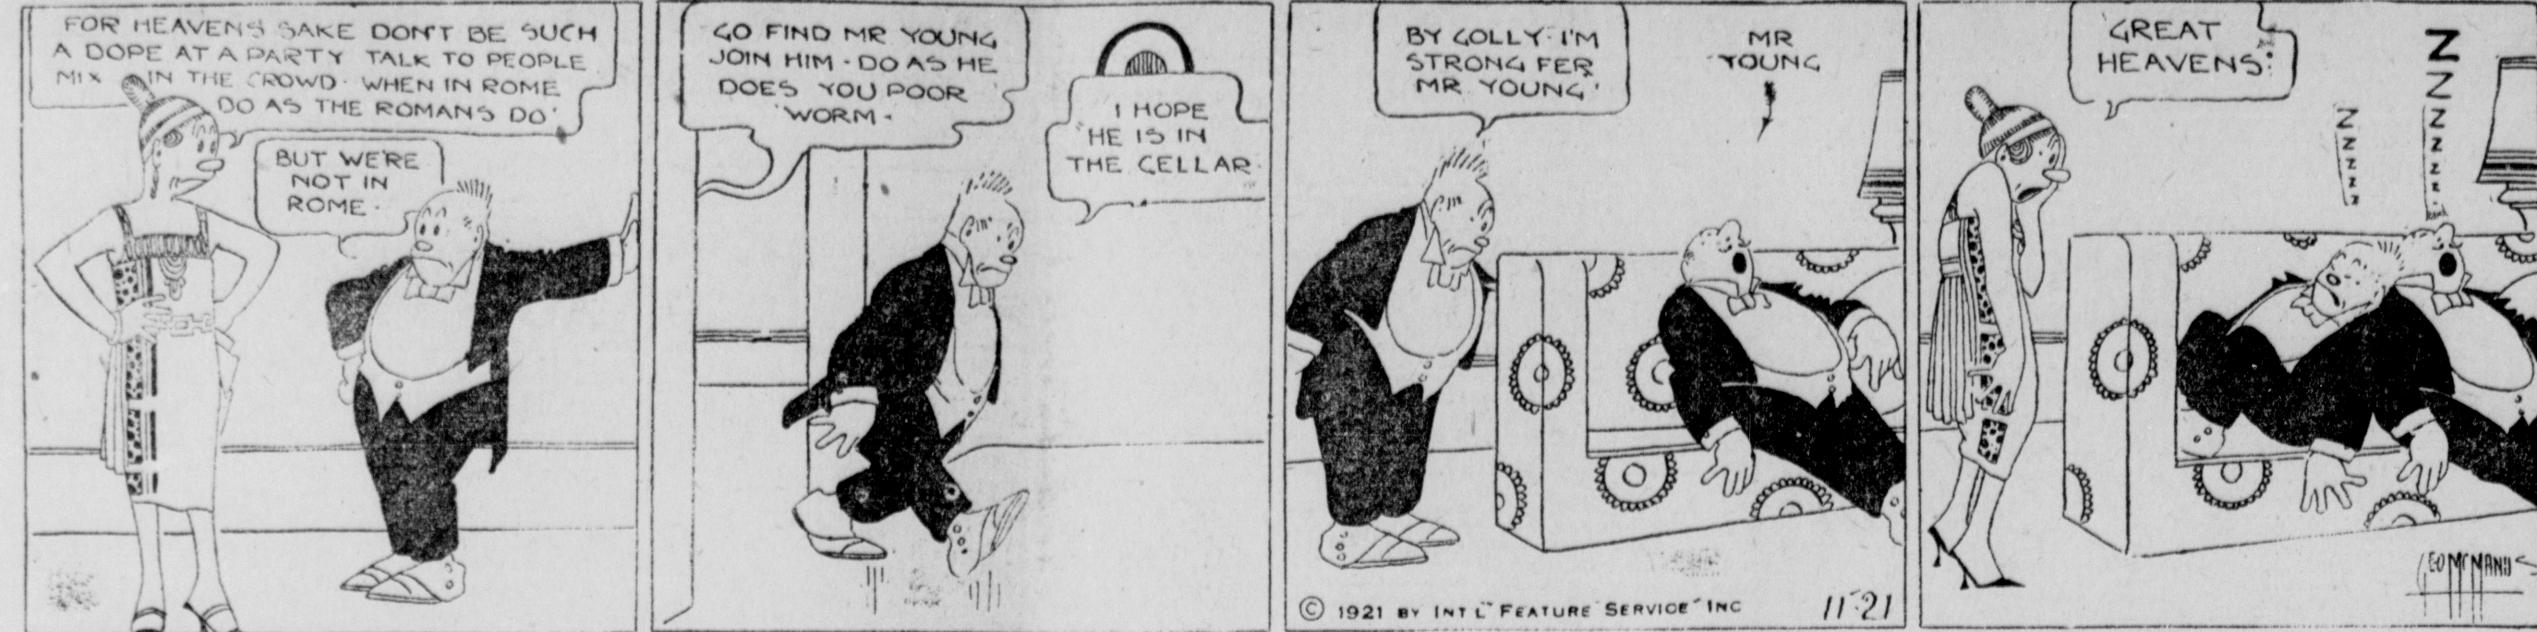

The performance of Tullis at center for the Legion was little short of sensational, the big boy tearing the Eagle forward wall to shreds, and smearing play after play. It made little difference to him whether they came through the line or around the ends, he was in the mixup on either side of the field. The Borton brothers, Allen and Fred were a couple of other lads who shone at the defensive game, and their trailing of Bobby Drummer when he intercepted a pass near the close of the first half, and ran 60 yards which resulted in his being cut down on his own 20, saved the locals a defeat. Buck, Owens and Fuller, with Stephens tossing some excellent passes, were the chief stars in the backfield. "Cleet" Sillen at halfback for the visitors, was an offensive whirlwind on around end plays while McManus also gave the local ends considerable trouble. McCune at end played a wonderful defensive game for Al Mahrt's protégés.

The game was cleanly played, only seven penalties being enforced, six of them for off-side play, each team being penalized for this fracture three times. The other penalty was in the last few minutes of play when the Eagles were penalized for this fracture three times. The other penalty was in the last few minutes of play when the Eagles were penalized 20-yards for having a backfield man in motion for Al Mahrt's protégés.

DOES YOUR CHINA HARMONIZE WITH ITS SURROUNDINGS?

Two young housekeepers have written to ask me for an article on choice of china. "I would like a handsome monogrammed set of china," reads one of these letters, "but I am just married and we have hardly enough money for necessities." The other letter contains this question: "Our dining room is furnished with stained willow furniture. Would a set of china with embossed gold bandings be appropriate for our home?"

Now, I don't think one needs a knowledge of interior decoration to agree with me that "showy" china is not for the simple home.
